Russian Federation - Paralympics Facts & Figures

- Russia (including USSR and United Team) has won 176 medals at the Paralympic Winter Games, 64 gold medals, 68 silver and 44 bronze medals, the sixth most of all National Paralympic Committees
- The USSR made its winter debut in 1988, whilst a Unified Team took part in 1992. The nation has competed as Russia since 1994
- Since competing as Russia has won 153 medals, the second most total medals behind Germany (183)
- Russia has won 112 medals in cross-country skiing, including 40 gold medals. Only Finland (161) and Norway (155) have won more medals in cross-country skiing. Russia's other medals have been won in biathlon (36) and alpine skiing (5)
- Cross-country skier Valery Kupchinskiy has won 11 medals, most of all Russian athletes at the Paralympic Games and Paralympic Winter Games combined
- Kupchinskiy has won six gold medals at the Paralympic Winter Games, equal most with Sergey Shilov (cross-country skiing) and Alexandre Nassarouline (cross-country skiing, biathlon)
- Russia won 22 of the 60 medals in cross-country at the Paralympic Winter Games in 2010. No other NPC reached double figures in cross-country skiing in Vancouver
- Russia has won four of the last five relay events in cross-country skiing, including the last three in 2006 and 2010
- Russia won 38 medals at the Vancouver 2010 Paralympic Games, its best result at a single edition
- Russia need to win 71 medals in Sochi to break Austria's record of 70 medals won in 1984 in Innsbruck as the most successful hosts
- In biathlon and cross-country skiing, Russia is by far the world's most dominant nation at the moment winning 21 out of 27 possible titles at last year's World Championships. They also secured almost 50 per cent of all podium positions
- This year Russian athletes won 11 out of 12 IPC Nordic Skiing World Cup titles and claimed 29 out of a possible 36 podium positions.
